Excess Management

Unlock Value from Unused Inventory

Listings of Your Excess Inventory

We list your parts on all major market places while keeping them in stock with you. As soon as we receive requests or interest from buyers, we will coordinate with you to discuss pricing and availability.

Line or Lot Purchase

We offer flexibility by either buying a single excess inventory line item or purchase your entire excess list. When choosing this option you benefit from the fastest ROI while eliminating disposal costs associated with scrapping inventory. In addition, you can free up your inventory space and have no further costs for keeping the inventory.

Consignment Management

With our consignment option, you will own the parts until they are sold. However, the parts will be stored at Emporium Partners, allowing us to photograph, log part details, and packaging information. This increases our ability to satisfy the buyers' needs. Your inventory is inspected, quality assured, packaged, stored, and marketed in one of our ISO, ESD, and IDEA-certified warehouse locations. By storing your parts with us, they are considered 'in stock,' significantly increasing the likelihood of a sale. For unsold inventory, our team ensures environmentally friendly disposal in compliance with all regulations.
