

Emporium Partners RoHS Policy Statement

The Directive EU Directive 2015/863 on the Restriction of the use of certain Hazardous Substances (RoHS III), replacing Directive 2011/65/EU (RoHS II) replacing 2002/95/EC (RoHS I), targets Electrical and Electronic Equipment (EEE) in order to avoid adverse impacts on human health and the environment.

Emporium Partners are fully aware of the requirements of the RoHS EU Directive 2015/863. Roles and obligations have been identified by Emporium Partners to the best of its knowledge.

As an independent distributor of electronic components, we respond to our customers' requirements by sourcing products to the exact specifications as set forth by the customer.

Although it remains the responsibility of the customer to accurately detail the exact product specifications, Emporium will always assist with any necessary fact findings in order to supply the product required.

Emporium Partners performs no testing of products and relies solely on the manufacturer of the product for identification of RoHS Compliance. Emporium Partners makes no warranty, certification, or declaration of compliance. All statements by Emporium Partners of RoHS compliance, are based on Manufacturer information such as data sheets, manufacturers website, or any other documentation provided by the manufacturer.
